PAPER: 240

TITLE: Information Technology Governance Profile of E-Government

AUTHORS: Darius Antoni, Ade Pratiwijoi, Muhammad Izman Herdiansyah and Muhamad Akbar

English Writing: 4 (good)

Overall evaluation: 2 (accept)

----- Overall evaluation -----

This paper aims to evaluate the maturity of e-government implementation in Palembang government. Below are my comments:

1. Please revise the title of your paper. As your work is a case study, you can add ": A Case Study of Palembang Government".
2. The introduction section should be motivated better. Please highlight the previous works related to your topic to demonstrate the states of the art. In addition, some statements should be justified by a strong evidence (reference), for example, your claim states that "but in its implementation, there are deficiencies such as lack of Standard Operational Procedure (SOP)..".
3. Sometimes I feel confused about the term you used in this paper, particularly in relation to the "information technology governance". As in the title you already used that term, I suggest the authors used it consistently in the whole paper, for example, the section heading "E-Government Measurement Concepts" can be replaced by "Information Technology Governance Maturity Measurement of E-Government".
4. In relation to my third comment, the authors also need to discuss the concept of IT governance in the Literature Review section.
5. How did the authors ensure the reliability of their instrument? The authors used a quantitative descriptive approach, which is very subjective to respondents' perception. Is there any mechanism to revise the respondents' score?
6. All figures in the Discussion section are still in Bahasa. Please rewrite them in English. In addition, the figures are too small.
7. Please add the implication/recommendation section. Highlight any efforts/programs that can be taken by Palembang government to improve their IT governance practices.

----- Overall evaluation -----

This paper is about Information Technology Governance Profile of E-Government. The purpose of this research is to find out how the implementation of e-government, the implementation of governance and the influence of e-government on the IT governance of Palembang. Some interesting ideas and results on a subject well investigated in this paper. Research method is easily identified and is appropriate to address the problem. Problem can be identified, and related to literature review. Standard arguments that only partially support the conclusion. As a note, figures

1-4 cannot be read properly. It is necessary to think of a better presentation form and in accordance with the template.
